Despite my best efforts, I was unable to resolve issues with the batter extrusion. The batter would not extrude reliably or consistently, and drips constantly when the extruder is not moving. Thicker batter or a smaller nozzle exceeds the stepper motor’s torque limits, even with a large gearbox attached. In the future, a larger stepper or a higher-quality gearbox may resolve these issues.